ATTRIBUTES AND CHARACTERISTICS

VALUED

IN ROBOTICS ENGINEERING

ICT Specific

Health & Safety - Health and safety is valued by employers because it shows reponsibility and common sense. It is also valued in this job type due to the fact that it is essential that every employee is healthy and safe in the workplace.

IT Skills - IT Skills are valued by employers because they look into employing the right people for a job, so having the correct skills is valued. It is valued this job type becuase it is very essential to have a certain skill on the area the employee is working on.

Working Procedures - Working procedures are valued by employers becuase there is a smooth flow of outcome without surprises. It is valued in this job type because the procedures teaches safety and the importance of following the rules.

General Skills

Problem Solving - Problem solving is valued by employers becuase it shows that you can overcome problems without being intimidated by them. It is valued in this job type because problems are very common, expecially in robotics enginering, and they always need to be adressed.

Creativity - Creativity is valued by employers because it makes you look like a fresh worker with fresh ideas for the company. It is valued in this job type because engineering is a good job for creativity due to the flexebility of creating products such as robots which could make the future.

Planning - Planning is valued by employers because it shows you are organized and you have a good idea of your work, it also shows that you prioritize your work. It is valued in this specific job type because engineering rqeuired heavy planning otherwise the product would be very disorganised and it would have many mistakes.

Attitudes

Independence - Independence is valued by employers because it shows that you know what to do and that you are self-aware of your work. It is valued in this job type because it requires you to create your own design and perfecting it, which only requires yourself.

Self Motivation - Self motivation is valued by employers because it shows that you are determined and you have a passion on the job you do. It is valued in this job type because you are very prone to mistakes, and some can be very indimidating, and self motivation can help you solve that problem.

Determination - Determination is valued by employers becuase it shows that you are motivated to complete your work and acomplish goals. It is valued in this job because it is a very difficult and time consuming job which requires a lot of determination in order to achieve a goal or to complete a design for a model.